Event info

For our 2nd virtual event, join us at 5pm CST on November 18, 2020 for networking with like-minded tech people to learn about how entrepreneurs can find their angel investor match made in heaven.

We'll be using the virtual conference website, Remo, where you'll meet up to 6 people per table at a time, like how you would meet if you were at an in-person event. You'll have a bird's eye view of all the tables when you join the event, be able to see who is at each table, join the conversation with an easy double click, and then move from table to table to meet and chat with more people with another easy double click.

When it's time for Sandra to start her presentation, we'll send out a note to the floor with how long you'll have until the speaker starts her 15 to 20 minute discussion. During the presentation, we'll pause the conversations and overlay her video screen so you can easily watch Sandra chat about how entrepreneurs can find their angel investor match made in heaven.

After her presentation, we'll start up the table conversations again until we wrap up at 7pm. Sandra will be around before and after her presentation, she'd love to chat with you!

You'll have another 15 minutes to wrap up your conversations and trade contact information with people you'd like to get in touch with. We will send out notifications to let you know when it's getting close to 7:15 pm as well.

Please note: CTTAM will recognize this webinar as a Continuing Professional Development credit.
